COLLEGE INN TO OPEN NEXT WEEK

Tennis Juniors Inaugurate a Stunt to Aid Big Fair Days.

PLAN MANY FEATURES

On September 25 and 26 the Juniors of the Narberth Tennis Club will stage the latest and biggest surprise hit of the year. Working untiringly for some weeks, they are finally ready to put across their novel idea.

The rambling club house of the Narberth Tennis Club will temporarily be turned into an ultra-modern cafe, rivaling Chicago's "University Inn." The veranda facing the top tournament court will also be enclosed and used as a balcony and flower garden. Tables will be scattered throughout the club house and adjoining balcony, with accommodations for over one hundred guests.

Of course there will be a space left for dancing, as there will be lots of snappy music by the famous "Charleston Ramblers." Then there will be several novelty acts that will long be remembered by "College Inn" guests. And last but not least, there will be the "College Inn" Double Chocolate Nut Shorty Special. Something brand new in the line of refreshments. Then there will be a whole line-up of other lighter dishes, such as cinnamon toast, all kinds of drinks, and club sandwiches. However, anyone who misses the Double Chocolate Special will really be missing one of "College Inn's" noblest treats.

The really biggest attraction of "College Inn," however, has not yet been mentioned. Now, of course, tasty dishes must be transported from our kitchen to the tables of cash customers by someone, somehow. And that's the secret!

Many folks migrated to Atlantic City the past week just in order to see a lot of pretty girls. Think of it, all the way to Atlantic City! Now all you have to do is visit "College Inn."

NEXT WEEK WILL BE FAIR WEEK

Annual Country Fair Will be Held by Tennis Association September 25 and 26.

Coming at a time when all the up-State agricultural communities are holding their annual fairs, the Narberth Country Fair will bring a sample of the fun and festivities of these popular events right to our doors. It isn't necessary to drive 50 or 60 miles to attend an old-time country fair, Narberth has one of her own, a regular old-fashioned one with a midway and everything.

There will be loads of amusement for the young and old alike. Pony rides, a fish pond, a fortune teller and exciting horse race, a jazz band, dancing, hot dogs, ice cream and pink lemonade. Besides these and countless other amusements don't forget the two grand drawings for a list of wonderful prizes including an automobile, a Pittsburgh Automatic Water Heater, two tons of coal, a string of pearls and many other articles.

Don't miss it. Each year the good news spreads farther and more people attend. This year a record crowd is expected. You can't afford to miss a thing. Remember the dates, Friday and Saturday, September 25 and 26, on the grounds of the Narberth Tennis Club at Haverford avenue and Montgomery pike.

IRONING DEMONSTRATION

Walter G. Case, manager of the Narberth Electric Shop, has invited all and sundry to bring their wash to his store tonight for an ironing demonstration.

A Utemco electric mangler will be on demonstration in the window of his shop, and an invitation has been generally extended for any one curious about the device to try it out with their own wash.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall A. Wood, of Forrest avenue, who have been spending the summer at South Casco, Maine, have returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Touhill, of South Narberth avenue, returned Sunday from a 2000-mile motor trip through northern Pennsylvania, New York and Quebec.

Women Voters Declare That Men Have Elected Women Candidates

To the Editor of "Our Town":

In an effort to correct erroneous statements and false impressions that seem to have taken the possession of the minds of one or more Narberth citizens concerning the purposes and activities of the League of Women Voters, the writer wishes to at least attempt to enlighten any such critic or critics who either wilfully or unknowingly have been responsible for such reports.

The League of Women Voters is a national organization, born of the day that the franchise was granted to women in this country—and has for its purpose the political education of the millions of women who were thrown into the electorate uninformed and unprepared for the duties and responsibilities of citizenship, either by experience or tradition.

It is a non-partisan organization and does not endorse candidates, but does endorse measures. Women of all parties are invited to become members and here they may engage in amicable discussion of political subjects. Every effort is made to obtain reliable information on candidates and measures and to then disseminate such information among its members.

As chairman of the Narberth branch of this organization ever since its existence, the writer wishes to uphold its high ideals and purposes, a policy which has had the sincere endorsement of all its members.

At this point permit me to emphasize the fact that this organization has never endorsed any candidate or worked for any candidate as an organization. However, since its desire is not to make "rubber stamps" of its members but intelligent and useful citizens, it aims in no way to circumscribe the political participation or actions of any of its members as individuals. Apparently the very substantial vote polled for the woman candidate for tax collector in the recent election has precipitated these erroneous statements concerning this organization and is responsible for this letter of refutation from the writer. BORO NINE TRIUMPHS IN MAIN LINE OPENER

Townsend Fans Twelve Berwyn Men to Win 10-8 Decision.

Before a crowd of 5000 Main Line fans, Narberth drew first blood in the championship series with Berwyn, winning at Narberth Saturday, 10 to 8. The second half winners of the Main Line League race did all their scoring in the first five innings.

Berwyn started off strong by scoring three runs off Townsend, the Princeton southpaw, in the first inning, but Narberth kept pecking away at Bobby Paist, and in the fourth and fifth innings scored three runs, putting the game on ice. Berwyn, with two men out in the ninth, rallied and scored two runs, when Redmond was safe on an error, Paist's double and Higgins' single, which scored them both, but

FIREMEN WIN

The Firemen trounced St. Margaret's Monday night in their last twilight game of the season. Manager Taylor Henry had a very strong team out and had them on the jump. They pounded Hood hard, while St. Margaret's could not touch Fleck, getting about two hits in the six innings. They could not get a man past second base, while the firemen scored eight runs.

Features of the game were the hitting of Paul and Fleck and the fielding of Maguire and Blessing.

Manager Henry expects to book a game some Saturday afternoon soon.

County Organization Puts All Its Candidates Over, Many Unopposed

The Republican county organization ticket carried the day, Tuesday, at the primary nominations, throughout Montgomery county.

John Faber Miller, president judge of the courts, was given unanimous renomination, on both Republican and Democratic tickets, for another term of 10 years on the bench.

Isaiah T. Haldeman, prothonotary, of Lower Salford, was accorded unanimous renomination by Republicans to succeed himself in office.

H. R. Thomas, of Upper Providence, was given the nomination in the three-cornered contest for the post of director of the poor, with Abraham D. Hunsicker, his neighbor, second, and Daniel J. Mowrey, of Royersford, as third man. Thomas leads his nearest opponent by more than 2000 votes.

The summaries:

Judge—John Faber Miller, 22,001.

Prothonotary—Isaiah T. Haldeman, 21,150.

Director of the poor—H. R. Thomas, 11,329; Abraham D. Hunsicker, 8304; Daniel J. Mowrey, 2138.

The only contest in the Democratic ranks throughout the county was for the nomination for jury commissioner, for which a place is assured at the November elections.

In the three-cornered race, the retiring commissioner, Ephraim Hartenstine, of Sanatoga, came out third. John Weyland, of Pennsburg, won the contest, with about 400 votes over Charles Moyer, of Sanatoga, who won second place. Moyer lead Hartenstine by over 200.

OPERATION FATAL TO HENRY ROSE

Narberth Shocked by Sudden Death of Popular Citizen.

Henry Rose, of 211 Woodside avenue, died suddenly Thursday afternoon in the Jefferson Hospital. He submitted to a throat operation on Tuesday, and complications set in which resulted in his death.

Mr. Rose, who was 54 years of age, had been a resident of Narberth sixteen years, and was counted as one of the borough's leading citizens, both in civic matters and as a private citizen.

He is survived by his wife and three children: Miss Agnes Milne Rose, a graduate of the Narberth High School and Bryn Mawr College, now a school teacher; Mr. George Starr Rose, also a graduate of the local High School and of State College, and Henry Seaver Rose, the youngest son, who attends the Narberth School.

For six years Mr. Rose was a member of the Narberth School Board and served as its secretary for four years. He was also a member of the Narberth Tennis Association until he transferred his interests to golf and was active in the Tredyffrin Golf Club.

As Philadelphia Sales Manager of the American Steel and Wire Company, Mr. Rose was a prominent figure in that industry, being associated with the Manufacturers' Club and the Steel Club of Philadelphia.

He was known to many in Narberth as a humorous writer and keen observer of local events. When "Our Town" was founded in 1914 he joined the staff as an associate editor and aided the volunteer board by contributing many articles. For several years he conducted a humorous column of comments under the pen name of "The Cub," and up to the time of his death many articles from his pen appeared in these columns under this nom-de-plume or anonymously.

A lover of flowers, Mr. Rose earned for himself the title of the "Dahlia King," and many flower shows in past years have paid tribute to his skill in the growing of splendid blooms. He was a member of the Narberth Presbyterian Church.

The funeral services will be held from his late residence at 2 P. M. Monday. Interment will be made at Westminster Cemetery.

DAVIS ENLARGES

The store of H. E. Davis on Haverford avenue is in the process of doubling in size. Workmen are busy tearing down the wall between the present store and the adjacent one, formerly occupied by the Narberth Electric Shop.

When the work is completed Narberth's oldest store will also be one of the largest. Eugene Davis, co-manager with his father, states that the stock of candy, tobacco, etc., will be materially increased and that emphasis will be laid on holiday novelties, toys, etc.

THANKS VOTERS

To the Editor of "Our Town":

If it were possible or practicable I would like to personally thank every one of the citizens of our borough who voted for me at the primary election on Tuesday, and assure them individually of my deep appreciation of their confidence and friendship. But as that is neither possible or practicable I am writing this letter as the surest means of reaching them all, and I trust that every one of my fellow citizens who voted for me on either ticket will regard this letter as a personal word of thanks. I would also like to add an extra word of appreciation of the splendid work done by my friends both before election and at the polls. And finally, I want to assure everyone that I appreciate fully not only the faith and trust in me, which they have expressed by their votes, but the full responsibility that goes with the office of tax collector. As in my work as assessor, I shall endeavor to conduct the duties of tax collector efficiently and equitably.

ABBIE W. NICKERSON

FIRST MEETING HELD BY SCOUTS

F. T. Van Auken New Scoutmaster at Meeting.

Forty-five Boy Scouts responded to the call for the first meeting of the season last Monday night. Scoutmaster I. N. Wilson called the boys to order and introduced an old friend in a new role with the announcement that Lieutenant Commander Frederick T. Van Auken will be associated with him as a Scoutmaster.

Commander Van Auken responded with a few words outlining the plans for the year—promising the youngsters a busy season with a definite plan of entertainment and instruction and a notice to the boys that they would be expected to do their share in upholding the good name of scouting in the borough. Their responsibilities to their organization and to Narberth were pointedly brought out and after a roaring salute to the new Scoutmaster he sat down and began the work of organization for 1925-26.

Patrol leaders were appointed by the assistant scoutmasters.

Commander Van Auken is well known to the citizens of Narberth and has at different times addressed the troop and the Fathers' Association. He is an active friend of all the boys and for the past few months has served on the Troop Committee. As Scoutmaster he has found it necessary to resign from that board, but as everyone knows he's got a bigger job now.

The boys are delighted with the new arrangement. In I. N. Wilson and Commander Van Auken the Narberth Troop is fortunate in having a combination of men who should lead the organization to a distinguished place among the troops of the State. Narberth, as a community, is to be congratulated in now having her boys under the guidance of mature Scoutmasters of demonstrated fitness and personality.

A rare treat is promised for October 5, when a distinguished naval officer will be the guest of the troop. His name is withheld for the time, but his subject will be "Aviation," and he will cover the fielding and handling of airplanes. He will also have something to say of the big balloons, and though we can't divulge his name, he is one of the foremost in his line—the sort of a man that every live boy would gladly walk more than a mile to hear.

Now, altogether; fellow-citizens, get behind the boys and co-operate with Scoutmasters Wilson and Van Auken. Back them up!

The Misses Helen and Enis Caldwell, Elizabeth and Louise England, Helen Trowbridge and Elizabeth Timm spent the past week-end at Ocean City.

SOUTH SIDE TURNS OUT STRONG VOTE

With nearly double the combined votes of her two men opponents, Mrs. Abbie W. Nickerson won the nomination on both Democratic and Republican tickets for Tax Collector Tuesday.

Edwin P. Dold was second, having 172 Republican votes to Mrs. Nickerson's 538. William J. Kirkpatrick finished last with 149. The Democrats gave Mrs. Nickerson 64, Mr. Dold 35 and Mrs. Kirkpatrick 28.

The Republicans chose Robert Fellows Wood, Daniel Leitch, John R. Hall and Clarence Kaeber as candidates for Council, while on the Democratic slate, the name of Mr. Kaeber will be replaced by that of Anton E. Wohlert, who missed making the Republican ballot by a few votes.

Two new faces will be seen on the School Board next year if the Republicans carry the general election, for Mrs. Van Auken and Dr. Walter Steckbeck beat out Jesse S. Harris and Hervey C. Keim for nomination. Mrs. Van Auken and Mr. Harris are listed on the Democratic slate.

These, the high lights in the local contests, follow the forecasts made last week in these columns. The women turned out in large numbers and worked their heads off for Mrs. Nickerson, and with the aid of their husbands, succeeded in rolling up an impressive majority.

As is usually the case in primary elections, the poll was light. Nine hundred and ninety-three voters cast their ballots of the 2338 enrolled as to party. That record, though light, is far ahead of the proportion show in other parts of the county. The men came out 46 per cent. strong and the women 34 per cent. The south side took the prize, coming out 56 per cent. strong, an unusual showing.

Henry A. Frye was high man in the count with 748 Republican and 19 Democratic counts. Only a half dozen opposing ballots were cast, including the usual vote for Henry Allen, Sam Wylie and other members of the town's group of favorite sons.

F. Richard Gifford for Auditor and Howard C. Fritsch for Justice of the Peace were given big votes.

Although for the most part the primaries followed the anticipated course with regard to the choice of candidates, a few surprises occurred. It was not expected that John R. Hall would come through ahead of A. E. Wohlert, strong independent, and H. L. Woehling, who was backed by borough political workers.

His success, observers believe, was due to the backing of the street-paving bloc, the hard work done in his behalf by residents of the northwest corner of the borough who have been anxious for representation, and to the fact that his name resembles that of the present President of Council, who declined to run again.

Mr. Wohlert has indicated his intention of making a real fight for the position under the Democratic banner, in the belief that with a strong campaign many voters can be convinced to cut their tickets in November.

The large vote polled by Dr. Steckbeck was also a surprise, due to the fact that he was a last-minute candidate. He polled well over a hundred more than either Mr. Harris or Mr. Keim, both of whom are past members of the board.

The detailed vote by districts has been compiled and is reproduced in another column.

Candidates Address Voters.

Under the auspices of the Narberth League of Women Voters all local candidates were invited to attend a candidates' meeting held in the Y. M. C. A. on Friday evening, September 11.

The purpose of this meeting was to give to the citizens of this community an opportunity to hear, see

BIG BENEFIT FOR BILL HUMPHRIES

North and South Sides Will Battle in Narberth Soon.

With the conclusion of the regular baseball season, the Narberth Club will divide itself up and play one big game on the playground for the benefit of Bill Humphries. The two teams will disport under the auspices of the North Side and South Side, respectively, and this will be the occasion when that long-mooted question as to which is the better half of this bounding borough will once and for all be settled. Manager Crowell states he would be glad to consult with any citizens' committees which may be appointed by the two bailiwicks, and he promises that the squarest kind of a deal will be afforded in this endeavor to establish finally the subject of neighborhood supremacy.

It has now been several years since Bill Humphries has been able to play ball, as he has not been at all well, and his friends, players and public want to lend a hand in his present predicament and also to indicate recognition of his very helpful service at the games, where he is always on the job to keep the score and to do the various other things which smooth the path of the great pastime.

The benefit game will occur either next Saturday, September 26, or Saturday, October 3, depending on the outcome of the pennant series, and tickets are now available at Davis'.

As there is a real community desire to have the proceeds as large as practicable, it is hoped that those who may not be able to be present at the game will register their interest and support by purchasing several of the tickets anyhow. The price has been fixed at $1 for a brace of three tickets, or 35 cents each.

Please buy, everybody.

A BIG THRILL

At 9.30 we'll meet with Andy and his orchestra and the whole school in the new assembly room, and we want you, too. If you can't get there at 9.30, drop in on us at 10 o'clock in our own room. We're not angels, and there are no wings sprouting. We're just MEN WITH A HIGHER PURPOSE. Come, meet with us. You'll not be sorry.

Oh, yes! Save the afternoon of the twenty-sixth. We're going to Valley Forge. We'll broadcast more later. This is station OGUC Gara Bible Class of the Narberth Presbyterian Church, D. S. announcing, signing off until tomorrow at 9.30 A. M.

L. M. MILK CONTROL BOARD WINS FIGHT

State Board Refuses to Lower Pasteurization Point Three Degrees.

A BATTLE OF BRIEFS

The Board of Health of Lower Merion township won again in its fight for the continuation of the present method of pasteurizing milk intended for consumption in the township. The victory was won last Thursday at Harrisburg when a hearing was held by the Advisory Health Board of the Pennsylvania Department of Health on the brief filed by Mr. Harding, representing the Supplee-Wills-Jones Milk Company of Philadelphia.

In this brief the milk company requested that the board make a ruling reducing the temperature at which milk is now pasteurized, 145 degrees to 142 degrees.

The Board of Health of Lower Merion fild a voluminous and carefully prepared brief on August 29, in which the board was requested to retain the present temprature, 145 degrees. Dr. George W. Grim, milk control officr for Lower Merion, followed Mr. Harding.

All the seven members of the board heard the arguments and having read the briefs gave the following unanimous decision:

Resolved that the Advisory Health Board of the Pennsylvania Department of Health is convinced that the present regulation defining pasteurized milk as "milk which has been subjected to a temperature of not less than 145 degrees Fhr. or more than 148 degrees Fhr. for a period of not less than 30 minutes," is logical, practical and necessary for the prevention of disease and for the protection of the lives and the health of the people of the State.

The brief presented by the Lower Merion Board of Health was prepared by Dr. D. W. Horn, chemist; Dr. George W. Grim, milk control officer, and Dr. Samuel M. Heulings, milk engineer.

The Lower Merion organization swept through the township with a precision that smacked of Tammany in the primaries Tuesday to roll up a plurality of 1956 votes for Commissioner Peter C. Hess, of Bala, as treasurer. It completely swamped all opposition and carried eleven of the thirteen districts with its popular harmony candidate for a total of 2764 votes, one of the highest totals ever given a candidate in a township fight.

The machine also carried Lower Merion for H. R. Thomas, of Upper Providence, county organization man for the office of Director of the Poor, delivering for him a vote of 2550. This was a plurality of 1905 over Abraham D. Hunsicker, his nearest rival in the three-cornered fight for the Directorship.

and meet all the aspirants for office thereby assisting them to arrive at a decision in the primary election if any doubt or confusion as to choice existed in their minds.

In spite of the extremely hot weather and the limited opportunity available for publicity a very substantial response from both candidates and other citizens resulted.

The candidates present were Messrs. Harris, Keim, Steckbeck, Frye, Wood, Hall, Betus, Wohlert, Dold, Kirkpatrick and Mrs. Van Auken, Mrs. Murray and Mrs. Abbie Nickerson.

In addition to the address of the candidates all other officials present were asked to rise and make a few remarks for the purpose of identifying them to any strangers in the audience. Many expressions of appreciation were heard of the advantages afforded those attending this meeting.

The League of Women Voters wishes to publicly thank the candidates for their very generous co-operation and to further state that the voters of Narberth have every reason to be proud of the type of people who aspired to serve them in one capacity or another.

In as much as the expenses of this meeting were borne by the league, it wishes to thank the Women's Community Club for its co-operation in permitting gratis the use of the Y. M. C. A. assembly room.

BASEBALL

Townsend ended the game by forcing Dorsaneo to roll out to short.

Townsend struck out 12 and held Berwyn to nine hits, while his mates were collecting 15 safeties off Paist's deliveries.

Paist might have won his game at that, if he could have held down the hitting of Jefferies and Townsend, but the hitting of the two Princeton stars cost him the victory. Jefferies obliged with five hits out of five times at bat, including a double, triple and a home run, his home run coming in the fourth inning with two on base. Townsend had three hits, two of which were doubles. Altogether the pair of them accounted for eight of Narberth's runs.

Other features were the fielding of Keyes, Paist and Dorsaneo, the catching of Burns and the hitting of Dorsaneo.

A BOOK FOR MEN

And Women Too, If They Are Interested in John L. Sullivan.

If anyone was in doubt as to whether the name and fame of John L. Sullivan, the heavyweight pugilist champion from the early Eighties to the early Nineties, still lives in the minds of men, all he would need to do would be to go to any place where elderly men congregate and say, "Jack Dempsey is the greatest fighter that ever lived." He would have an argument on his hands immediately. There would probably be several men prsent who would be willing to stake their faith and pocketbooks on the proposition that no man of might from Hercules to Goliath down to the modern Dempsey could stand up for more than four rounds against "John L." when he was in his prime.

All such men and many of their sons and grandsons will greet with interest and approval the biography of John L. Sullivan by R. L. Didble. That book is now available at the Community Library and is filled with interesting incidents and colorful quotations from Sullivan himself. It indicates that Sullivan was a man of unusual physique and of considerable fighting craft, but that he was undoubtedly lacking in the skillful technique of modern pugilism. But it does show that the champion of those days was obliged literally to defeat all comers. Sullivan, for years, had a standing offer to pay $100 to any man who could stay in the ring four rounds against him. He used to travel about the country taking on every one who offered himself, and $100 was enough money in those days to tempt many men to take a beating.

It was not a case of one big fight at long intervals, preceded by careful training and protected by the modern rules of the ring. Sullivan frequently fought several times a week and often took on more than one man in the same evening. His early fighting was principally with bare fists and there were no rules against gouging, wrestling and hitting below the belt. One man did succeed in earning the $100 from Sullivan by spending most of the time during the four rounds crawling about the ring on his hands and knees. In another impromptu engagement, Sullivan was unexpectedly confronted by a Hoosier blacksmith, who was seven feet tall and a man of great might in his own locality. Sullivan could not reach his jaw effectively until he hit on the scheme of punching the giant in the stomach, which would make him double up so that Sullivan was then able to get a poke at his jaw. After about three applications of that treatment, the blacksmith took the count.

Wine, women and song and a horde of flatterers who were eager to assist the generous Sullivan in getting rid of his money, worked the ultimate downfall of the champion. It is estimated that during the 10 years of his supremacy Sullivan probably took in a half million dollars, but soon after his defeat by Jeffries, he was destitute and a few years later was apparently a helpless and hopeless drunkard. Then transpired what many people would consider the most remarkable event in his life. That was when he suddenly decided to reform, and from that day on he did not touch a drop of liquor. In this alone, he demonstrated a strength of will such as few men, similarly situated, are able to display.

When it became apparent that Sullivan's reform was permanent he was able to secure fairly lucrative employment as a temperance lecturer for Lyceum bureaus and later in the employ of the Anti-Saloon League. There is no question that Sullivan accomplished much good in the latter years of his life, for he took his own reform earnestly and crowds of young men, whom no other speaker could have reached, eagerly attended his lectures.

The last few years of his life were spent in comparative comfort on a small farm which he had bought near Boston. There the garrulity of his advancing years was daily indulged and gratified by the large number of admirers who called to see him and whom he frequently induced, by means of ingenious wiles, to do much of the manual work on his farm. The question as to whether Sullivan could have licked Dempsey or vice versa, of course, is a footless one, fit only for filling in the time in a home for old men. It seems likely, however, that Dempsey's undoubted superiority in skill might have prevailed, but it is also certainly true that Jack Dempsey never has or will see the day when he would be willing to defend his title continually against all comers and to fight for the joy of the fighting, regardless of any other consideration.

WOMEN VOTERS DENY ELECTION ACTIVITY CHARGES

dentally it ought to be of interest to those circulating such propoganda that it so happens that the women of this community, either as groups or individuals, have never presented a woman candidate for any office and that every instance in which a woman is holding office, either by appointment or election, in the borough of Narberth she has been presented by some man or group of men. When the exact figures are available in this primary election it is safe to predict that it will be found to reveal the fact that even though all the women who voted had voted for the woman candidate for tax collector (which I know they did not) it would still have required a very substantial support from the men voters to reach the total of 607 votes.

Those men, who have given such liberal consideration and support to the women in the past, are a distinct credit to the community in which they live and must find it a source of satisfaction to know that their trust has not been betrayed, but that the incumbents are conscientiously and effectively doing their work.

The fact that many of the women in this community take an active and sincere interest in their civic and political affairs and exercise their franchise to a substantial degree ought to be encouraged rather than condemned, for in the opinion of progressive people that is one of the chief attributes constituting good citizenship.

GEORGIA FOWLER
Chairman Narberth League of Women Voters.

CROWELL HAVERFORD COACH

Wilmer Crowell, of Narberth, former Swarthmore football star and who played on the same team with the late Bob Maxwell, has signed to coach the Haverford School eleven.

Crowell will be assisted by Bill Durbin, also of Narberth, and Beattie, the latter a Princeton graduate on Walter Camp's second All-American team last year.

The acceptance of the Haverford position will not interefere with Crowell's work as an official. He is listed to officiate at many of the leading college games this year.

Daylight saving will finish for the season on September 27.
